

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for outputting a table wherein on the basis of a width value, at least one column is ascertained whose unshortened rendering would exceed the width value. For this column, a number of characters to be rendered is stipulated
5 which is less than the number of characters in the row having the most characters in this column. This method achieves clear rendering of the table on a page.

09918050.073001